Detailed Action

1. Claims 13, 15 17, 20-29 are presented for examination. This office action is in response to the RCE filed on 11/12/03.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 13, 21-24 and 28-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Biggs et al. (Biggs) US Patent 5,410,669.

As to claim 24, Biggs discloses the invention as claimed. Biggs discloses a method of controlling a computer having a main memory (col. 2 line 55) for which a first memory space of a memory map (col. 2 line 44, memory map reads on this limitation) and a cache memory (abstract) comprising: assigning a second address space (abstract lines 9-10) of the memory map (col. 2 lines 35-41, different portions of the memory map reads on this limitation) which separate from the first address space of the main memory for the cache memory when the cache memory is acting as a random access memory (col. 4 line 46 thru col 5 line 25).

As to claim 23, Biggs discloses the invention as claimed. Biggs discloses a system which controls a cache memory (abstract) that is connected to a main memory (col. 2 line 55) with a first address space of a memory map (col. 2 line 44, memory map reads on this limitation) and capable of acting as a random access memory (Fig. 3 and col. 4 line 46 thru col 5 line 25) comprising the steps of: a determine unit which determines whether the cache memory is acting as the random access memory (col. 2 lines 35-41 and col. 4 lines 54+) and an assigning unit which assigns a second address space (abstract lines 9-10) of the memory map (col. 2 lines 35-41, different portions of the memory map reads on this limitation) which separate from the first address space of the main memory for the cache memory when the cache memory is acting as the random access memory (col. 4 line 46 thru col 5 line 25).

As to claims 13 and 22, Biggs discloses the invention as claimed. Biggs discloses a method of controlling a cache memory is connected to a main memory (col. 2 line 55) with a first address space of a memory map (col. 2 line 44, memory map reads on this limitation) and capable of acting as a random access memory (Fig. 3 and col. 4 line 46 thru col 5 line 25) comprising the steps of: determining whether the cache memory is acting as the random access memory (col. 2 lines 35-41 and col. 4 lines 54+) and assigning a second address space (abstract lines 9-10) of the memory map (col. 2 lines 35-41, different portions of a memory map reads on this limitation) which separate from the first address space of the main memory for the cache memory when the cache memory is acting as the random access memory (col. 4 line 46 thru col 5 line 25) and a bus control unit (Fig. 1 Ref. 20) .

As to claim 21, Biggs discloses the invention as claimed above. Biggs further discloses a computer including a main memory and a cache memory (Fig. 1 Ref. 14), the main memory having a first address space (Fig. 1 Ref. 30) and the cache memory being capable of acting as a RAM (abstract) comprising: a determination unit (col. 4 line 46 thru col 5 line 25), an assignment unit (col. 4 line 46 thru col 5 line 25), a bus control unit (Fig. 1 Ref. 20), a peripheral system (Fig. 1 Ref. 22), and access control unit (abstract).

As to claims 28-29, Biggs discloses the invention as claimed above. Biggs further discloses the first and the second address space is fixed in the memory map (col. 2 lines 35+).

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 15, 17, 20, and 25-27 are allowed.

Response to Amendment

5. Applicant's arguments filed on 11/12/03 have been fully considered but they are not deemed to be persuasive.

Applicant's remarks that the references not teaching assigning first address space -- a second address space of a memory map, which is separate from the first address space of the main memory is not considered persuasive. Biggs discloses a method of controlling a cache memory is connected to a main memory (col. 2 line 55) with a first address space of a memory map (col. 2 line 44, memory map reads on this limitation) and capable of acting as a random access memory (Fig. 3 and col. 4 line 46 thru col 5 line 25) comprising the steps of: determining whether the cache memory is acting as the random access memory (col. 2 lines 35-41 and col. 4 lines 54+) and assigning a second address space (abstract lines 9-10) of the memory map (col. 2 lines 35-41, different portions of the memory map reads on this limitation) which separate from the first address space of the main memory for the cache memory when the cache memory is acting as the random access memory (col. 4 line 46 thru col 5 line 25). Therefore broadly written claims are disclosed by the references cited.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. See attached PTO-892.
7. a shortened statutory period for response to this action is set to expire 3 (three) months and 0 (zero) days from the mail date of this letter. Failure to respond within the period for response will result in ABANDONMENT of the application (see 35 USC 133, MPEP 710.02, 710.02(b)).
8. When responding to the office action, Applicant is advised to clearly point out the patentable novelty which he or she thinks the claims present in view of the state of the art disclosed by the references cited or the objections made. He or she must also show how the amendments avoid such references or objections. See 37 C.F.R. § 1.111(c).

9. When responding to the office action, Applicants are advised to provide the examiner with the line numbers and page numbers in the application and/or references cited to assist examiner to locate the appropriate paragraphs.
